

Carolina Moura

Mixed Media Artist and Designer

Born and raised in Brazil, Carolina was driven by art since she was a young girl. In 2002, she started working with art education at a non-profit organization, as a visual artist, as well as pursuing her Bachelor's degree in Fine Arts. After moving to US, she started mixed media combining traditional art, graphic design, and digital art together to create her pieces. Her works have been evolving as she continues in her creative journey seeking for quality light, shapes and forms. She has supported both educational institutions, Non-profits, and community events as a Visual Artist, Art Instructor, and a Graphic Designer.

She currently works as an art Instructor at Pacific Art League and leads both art projects and events at different local communities around the Bay Area.
